The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals

1 Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills, and ordered their papers discontinued

4 The Courts have decided that I refused to take a newspaper or periodical from the Post Office with out notifying the publisher, and the payment of all arrearages, is prima facie evidence of fraud

5 Subscribers to newspapers or periodicals removed, are liable to pay so long as the paper or periodical may be sent to the residence of the party at the time of subscription unless notice is sent of such removal to the publication office

American & Foreign Patents.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the U S Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1857)

78 Stat Street, opposite Kilby Street, BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States, also, in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries Caveats, Specifications Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms and with dispatch Researches made into American or Foreign works to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but from the inventors have advantages for securing Patents of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not unmeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber, and as success is the her proof of adequacy and ability he would add that he has about as much reason to believe and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents

This is besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe render it invaluable beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse" CHARLES MASON Commissioner of Patents

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting the applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office

Late Commissioner of Patents EDMUND BURKE,

"Mr R H EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but one of which patents have been granted and that is not pending Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges JOHN TAYLOR

During eight months, the subscriber, in one of his large practice made on twenty rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents R H EDDY

The London Quarterly (Conservative)

The Edinburgh Review, (Whig)

The North British Review, (Free Church)

The Westminster Review, (Liberal)

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, (Tory)

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations and lying rumors of the daily Journal and the ponderous Tome of the future historian written after the living interest and excitement of the great political interests of the time shall have passed away It is to these periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligent and reliable history of our age events and such is held upon to their well established literary scientific and theological character we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these reprints inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE

LARGE PREMIUMS

TO OUR FRIENDS

Hitherto we have never offered any one a premium for helping to extend the circulation of THE TRIBUNE We have printed the cheapest newspaper ever issued, the quality of which it reproduced that we [illegible] in any country selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper he employed in agents to canvass for subscribers, and have allowed no compensation (beyond a copy of our paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the number of copies of our several issues circulated in their respective neighborhoods should be as large as possible and if possible increased We have been sparing even of verbal thanks to these friends, but have on the contrary realized the fullness of our obligations for their earnest, wise and painstaking, per sistent efforts

We propose for the present season only—in view of the hardness of the times and the fact that we are small left by white paper somewhat cheaper than we have hitherto dared to hope for—after the close of the War—to make a some small acknowledgment in such a way as may seem appropriate to those friends who shall see fit to exert themselves in our behalf We do not pretend to be generous to our Weekly and Semi Weekly editions We do not know that we can offer any thing of similar value more generally acceptable and useful than a good Pen of the best quality and finish We propose therefore to forward to each person who during the two months ensuing shall send us subscriptions and payments for THE TRIBUNE as follows

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the ensign of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

The Sentiment of the British People.

In all that is said in regard to the probable action of England and France upon the American question, reference has been had by us mainly to the disposition of the governments and the ruling aristocratic classes. These stand ready to crush us, or to attempt it, in a moment, if they think the indignation and opposition of their people will not be too fierce and consuming for their own safety. Hence, having inflamed the popular mind of England, to the necessity of war, upon the Trent seizure affair, the government felt bold enough to take it at once by the throat, and we re prodigiously disappointed when Mason and Slidell were so quietly delivered up. That opportunity was lost. Now the liberty-haters fall back upon the old weapon of self interest, to bring the English people again up to the mark of approving an American war. They hope the dearth of cotton and the distresses caused in the working districts of England by our war will rouse the people to an armed interference by their government. It may possibly do so. But it is yet evident there is in the minds of the great body of Englishmen, an abiding love of American liberal ideas, and a strong hope based upon the success of American liberal government—and that an unpublished attack upon us by the aristocratic rulers of England and France, for the manifest purpose of breaking down these liberal institutions, would arouse the most intense and dangerous feeling of resentment in the hearts of these common people of England. Hence the appeal to their self interests will hardly do. At least we think they are willing to suffer still longer, for the sake of giving us time to preserve for them and their children that refuge from over-taxation and oppress on which has been so long in the minds of many as one resource, should worst come to worst. The common people of England will long hesitate, we think, to consent unto the destruction of their only hope, free America.

To show the real sentiment of the British people towards the United States, the New York Post recently gave short extracts from more than twenty of the prominent papers of England,—all speaking one tone of friendly regard for us, and rejoicing in the settlement of the Trent affair. We give a few, as specimens of the whole.

[From the South Wales Times.]

The cause of peace has triumphed gloriously. Alas! for the dogs of war, and the merchantmen who were calculating on their greedy gain as the price of blood, and the host of chopfallen hangers on at the government offices, for they had counted their chickens before they were hatched! To all these the news from America has been a heavy blow and great disappointment. The pro-slavery party are licking the dust, and gnashing their teeth with rage.

From the Chester Record.

Only one class of persons will be disappointed and vexed at the amicable settlement of this great question—the abusers and haters of America. Such individuals will almost curse the day that blasted all their blood stained prospects and ensured quietude, life and enjoyment to thousands of families.

From the Rochdale Observer.

The reader has only to look at the cartoon in Punch this week, and he will see a representation of the popular temper. When we sent out our demand to America, we said they would not meet it, because they were influenced not by reason, but by passion, and now that they have met it, we say it is because they are cowards. This is not the way in which to regard a great people kindred with ourselves and it may very fairly be doubted whether under the same circumstances, England would have acted with so much prudence and moderation.

From the East Suffolk Mercury.

Englishmen will surely not wish to intermeddle where they are not concerned, for all the entreaties of the Times newspaper or the pro-slavery party put together. But the people of this country must be on their guard. There are wolves in sheeps' clothing abroad—pro-slavery advocates who, while pretend ng to be the champions of freedom, are at the same time doing all they can to further the interests of those who hate liberty, and who would, if they could, annihilate it forever.

From the Warrington Guardian.

A long, a bloody, and an expensive fight could have done nothing for us that peace cannot do. At the end of even a three years' struggle, costing a million and a half a week to each belligerent, we could not have demanded easier; we could not have restored lives, we should have laid ourselves open to the stigma of saving perpetuated slavery at the hour when its death-knell was ringing, and our own loss would no doubt have been serious.

From the Aylsbury News.

Those who declare that the course of American affairs is dictated solely by the populace of New York and Washington must now admit that there exists in the North sufficient wisdom and moderation to submit to an unpalatable demand, urged with firmness and courtesy. If the action of the government is dictated by the majority, then we may only hope that when the "populace" in Great Britain attains equal political power, it may prove equally able to use that power aright.

From the Hampshire Independent.

The Government of Mr Lincoln, in consenting to comply with our desire, have done nothing unworthy of a great and powerful nation, and they may rest assured that we have no wish to injure or humiliate a people to whom we are bound by so many ties of interest, or so many recollections of a common origin.

From the Jersey Independent.

We can very well understand the chagrin of such papers as the London Times on this side of the great ocean, and the sneers, insults and calumnies under cover of which they strive to hide their intense mortification. They might, however, spare us their hypocrisy in pretending to be thankful for the preservation of the blessings of peace! Thank God, that degradation which they day by day sought for us—that dishonor they so persistently tried to bring on the British flag—that national shame for which they shamelessly labored, the alliance of England with the man stealers, filibusters and pirates of the South, is averted. And although the plot is not yet ended, we look to the enlightened mind and awakened conscience of the British nation to prevent the success of the vile conspiracy.

From the Northampton Mercury.

Representative institutions have been, in truth upon their trial in America and in the hour of extreme pressure have not been found wanting. To us this self restraint exhibited by the northern States is the most hopeful sign we have yet seen for their ultimate triumph. To know how to command yourself is the first and great step towards commanding others. Possibly, ere long, the assertion that the North can never get the better of the South may be found to be as groundless as the assertion that the American Government was too weak and too degraded to oppose the resentment of the mob.

THE LONDON TIMES ON THE BLOCKADE. The Times in a recent article on the blockade of the Southern ports, said:

"The evidence seems complete that, if the present nominal blockade is to be respected, the provisions of the treaty of Paris—that a blockade shall not be recognized unless it be real—must be looked on as cancelled, and an impression prevails that the result would be disgraceful to all statesmen who recognize the claims of commerce and civilization. The meeting of the French Chambers on the 27th instant and of the English Parliament on the 6th of February, may be followed by some important declarations on the subject. The initiative is thought likely to be taken by France. Since the affairs of the common dearth are more severe on that country than on Great Britain, a strong feeling in favor of intervention is formed in his impulse given to India. At the same time it is seen that this country can have but little inducement to forego joining in an imperative enforcement of legal principles as the popular and almost universal cry in the Federal States seems now to be that every advantage which can be gained, whether from success at home or from the forbearance of foreign nations, is to be hailed as a means of hastening the time when the Trent affair can be avenged."

Our very good and very fair friends in England will have to hurry themselves, after all, or they may be too late to secure even an honorable pretense for interference as the lying statements about the "inefficiency of the blockade." If they delay much longer before making their hypocritical protest Secretary Seward will be able to reply, in his most bland and cheerful manner, that he is happy to inform Her Majesty's Government that the blockade has been entirely raised, and that there is no longer any contraband to the assistance of Her Majesty's ships, may or all of them, naval or mercantile, into any or all of the Southern ports of this Union. Her Majesty's officers or subjects would find the ports all in possession of the troops of the United States, and the waters free to the ships of all nations. As to the matter of trade, the people of the country chose to come forward, as good and loyal citizens, and pursue their peaceful avocations, and traffic with her Majesty's subjects, or with those of her "dearly beloved cousin" Monsieur Crapaud across the water, they would have full liberty so to do.

This, we say, Secretary Seward will be able to reply in a few months to My Lord Lyon—as we hope and trust. What will be the next pretext to justify English and French interference for the destruction of this country? An assumption that the South cannot be conquered, probably. But we can show them, we think, within six months, that the southern rebels not only can be, but have been subdued.

The Richmond Examiner of the 4th instant is wroth because of the style in which the London Times speaks about the rebel commissioners, and desires that they need should understand that these "fellows"—as it calls Mason and Slidell—do not go to England as supplicants, but to demand the recognition of a great organized community—the rights of that people under the rules England herself has admitted to be just and binding—to show that the stand taken by that organized community has been taken as a separate people, and that their independence has been established against all opposers—and that the obligations of civilized war, and of the commerce of the world, have been disregarded by their enemies of the United States. Honor and interest, the Examiner says, alike urge on England the recognition of the Confederacy, for her interest and also that of the South, are so interwoven that they must stand or fall together.

"We therefore," it adds, "confidently expect of England an early compliance with our application, while at the same time, we shall feel that we shall not in the least have compromised our and pride. We shall owe her no homage and no gratitude. If she perform to us this act of justice gracefully, whatever the ruling motive we should owe her good will and the disposition to cultivate friendly and intimate relations, but such speeches as the London Times is reported to have uttered would neutralize all such sentiments. John Bull is a surly animal, we know, but such gratuitous rudeness shows a want of practical wisdom, as well as good manners."

"Served him right," will be the general verdict of the people on the expulsion of the traitorous Senator from Indiana. It is honorable to the Senate that it has been so delicate in its action, allowing the question to be fully discussed and Mr Bright the largest opportunity of being heard in self defence.

GARDON, THE SLAVE TRADER. In the warrant granting the respite of two weeks to Capt. Gordon, the convicted slave trader, the President gives the prisoner no hope of receiving further clemency, and states that the respite is granted for the purpose of giving him an opportunity of preparing for death, which he had probably neglected to do up to this time, in consequence of the hopes and anticipations of his friends that his punishment would be commuted. The execution takes place on Friday the 21st inst.

The New York papers say that during the reading of his respite, the only time at which Gordon evinced any emotion, was on hearing those passages which destroyed all his cherished hopes of a final reprieve from the death sentence, then he blanched and seemed to feel deeply his awful situation. In a conversation which ensued he expressed to the Marshal some fears that his family might be destitute after his death, which the Marshal promised to see should not happen. He avowed a determination to prepare for his now rapidly approaching end.

THE EXPEDITION AGAINST SAVANNAH. By the arrival of the ship Zenas Coffin at New York the Journal of Commerce is in receipt of news from Port Royal to Tuesday, the 28th ult.

The expedition for the South sailed from that point on Sunday, 26th January, including all the light draft steamers, eight gunboats and 8000 troops. The principal part of the expedition went outside, but one or two small steamers, with light vessels in tow, went by the inside passage.

General Sherman left on Monday in the gunboat McClellan. The object of the expedition was understood to be an attack on Savannah commencing with Fort Pulaski.

On Tuesday, when the Zenas Coffin was beating off, they heard a heavy cannonading in the direction of Fort Pulaski. It continued for four hours in the morning and two hours in the afternoon.

The statement that the Confederate steamer Nashville has been purchased by an English shipowner is contradicted by the London Observer. At last dates she was still secure in her berth at Southampton, while the Tuscarora continued to watch her with unceasing vigilance. It was reported that the Federal Commander had invited the captain of the Nashville and Sumter to proceed to a decent distance from the British coast, and afford him the pleasure of an engagement with both their ships.

The "gallant Southerners," did not come to time, however. They prefer the braver exploits of burning unarmed merchantmen.

The Virginia correspondent of the Charleston Courier says "that out of the Fifth South Carolina Regiment, numbering eight hundred men whose term of service is about expiring but one hundred and seventy have signified their willingness to enlist for the war."

The question in regard to man's political nature is solved to be,—"Is he round on the goose? New Orleans says, it should be, "Is he sound on the eagle?"

MILITARY ENERGY. Since the battle of Mill Springs Gen Schoepff's division in Kentucky is reported to have actually built forty miles of corduroy road, in order to approach Monticello, where Crittenden is getting together the remains of his dispersed army. The depth of mud on the ordinary roads made it impossible to advance without making a road as our troops advance—Such energy deserves and guarantees success.

The Nashville Union says General Pillow had withdrawn his resignation, having been advised of a change of circumstances at Columbus. He would at once enter the service again under Gen Beauregard. He finds a change of circumstances at Columbus, now.

A WAR ANECDOTE OF 1812. The following has been often told, but every man likes to hear it again.

"Ogden Hoffman used to tell the story. He was in the fight between the Constitution and the Guerriere, and said this as the British ship came on with the guns run out, and the men ready with their matches, an officer came in haste to Captain Isaac Hull and asked for orders to fire. "Not yet was the quiet response." As they came still nearer, and the British vessel poured in her fire, the first Lieutenant of the Constitution came on the poop and begged permission to return the broadside saying that the men could not be restrained much longer. "No yet," was the indifferent reply. Still nearer the British ship came, and the American prisoners who were in the cockpit of the Guerriere affirmed that they began to believe that their own countrymen were afraid to measure their strength with the enemy and the thought gave them more pain than wounds which some of them were still suffering from. In a moment after the Guerriere rode gallantly forward, showing her unrinsed sides, and as the swell carried her close to the muzzles of "Old Ironsides" Capt Hull who was in quiet fit and dressed to full tights, bent himself twice to the deck, and with every muscle and vein throbbing with excitement, shouted, "Now boys, pour it into them!" That broadside settled their opponent and when the smoke cleared away the Commodore's tights were seen to split from waistband to heel.

TALES OF THE DAY, FOR FEBRUARY, 1862 is received from the publishers, Wm Carter & Bro, Boston. This magazine, which is for the most part a republication, of short but well-selected tales, is now in its second volume, and has obtained a large circulation. It is deservedly popular, for it provides entertainment for the family or fireside circle of the most entertaining character, and at the same time of unexceptionable moral tone, so far as we have seen. It is just the book that any one would pick up in a leisure hour. The present number contains twelve stories. The price is only 25 cents per month.

A citizen, who saw Zollicoffer's men on their retreat, says—"So hungry were they, that they actually eat the soap grease that a mother had laid aside to make soap. The rebels say that they lost in killed, drowned and missing, from 700 to 1500. A large number were drowned in crossing the Cumberland River, and this is attested by other persons seeing their bodies below Mill Spring in the river. James B Crasman was a candidate for the rebel Congress, and had his handbills out a few days before the fight—he left with the rebels, his fate is being at [illegible], in Tennessee. The Light [illegible] was so precipitate, that no [illegible] Warren county, on the Rail [illegible] the rebel Congressman."

A man came into our office a day or two since and wanted to get some verses printed on the "the American Star!" The Stars have been so over printed with verses that the poor things look dim enough now.—Lewiston Jour.

Let us pray that the dimness be not increased by any more reverses to our arms.

There is one man in an up river town who makes his appearance annually before the Committee on Fisheries, and contents that the Augusta dam was the first cause of the potato rot, and we will add in wheat. His proof is that these pests were unknown prior to the erection of the dam, and his theory, that before the dam was erected the fishes went up the streams and destroyed the fish upon the surface of the water, but now the dam obstructs the progress of the fishes, and the flies, escaping their ravages, light upon the potatoes and wheat, and occasion the mischief referred to. Many a pet pious dogma not half so well sustained as this idea, has caused the earth to be deluged with blood.—Bath Times.

In fact, even acts of kindness from England are received by the people of the South with suspicion, and anything that bears the resemblance of opposition, hostility, or aspersion, with resentment and defiance.—Montreal Gazette.

[illegible] Hearts to have [illegible] Mississippi [illegible] Where have they been [illegible] Congressmen?

From the Army of the West.

LEXINGTON, KY, Feb 4, 1862.

The defeat of Zollicoffer has produced an important change in the situation of military affairs in this department. I present a general view. Looking at the map you will observe that being in possession of the Cumberland river at Mill Springs and Greensboro, we have as it were, turned obstacles back. The only thing asking to force him to evacuate Bowling Green and retire upon Nashville is transportation. If we could advance our supplies to the Cumberland river, Schoepff and Thomas could be in Johnson's rear in a few days. General George Crittenden has retired beyond Jamestown, Fentress county, Tennessee, where he has about two thousand fugitives. His force is so completely demoralized that he is incapable of making resistance.

The whole of Eastern Tennessee is open to us. There is no obstacle to Gen Thomas's path. His only difficulty is to subsist the army. He has advanced to Montgomery, the county seat of Wayne, about twelve miles north of the Tennessee line. He has 2000 men at work constantly repairing the road between Stanford and Somerset. He is seventy-five miles distant from his supplies, and will find it hard work to subsist his army. But what might not an energetic General do? It is but seventy five miles further to Knoxville, which would give us the East Tennessee and Georgia railroad. With a mule pack saddle train and a picked force an energetic commander might have possession of the railroad, with all the bridges destroyed, the track torn up and the connection between Manassas and Bowling Green cut off beyond all possible reparation on the part of the rebels.

Garfield might do the same a hundred miles east, seizing it at Abington in Western Virginia. This is not revealing any plan to the rebels, because I have no reason to suppose it is contemplated by the military authorities. The rebels know as well as any one else that there is a stretch of 200 miles open to an advance, and they are expecting that we shall improve it. Doubtful if it is done, however. We move slow out here, our Generals are in no hurry. So much for the eastern division.

In the centre the forces remain as they have been, with the exception that about fifteen thousand soldiers have been moved across Green river, the bridge being completed to Munfordsville. General Buell still has his headquarters at Louisville. He is now fortifying the north bank of Green River, that if he is forced back from Bowling Green he can have a safeguard.—Cor Boston Journal.

Gen McClellan last week ordered Berdan's sharpshooters to be furnished with one thousand Colt's rifles and one thousand Sharp's rifles—The sharpshooters will not be employed as infantry but as first contemplated.

TELEGRAPHIC TO THE Daily Whig and Courier.

[Dispatches to the Evening Papers.]

News from Burnside—The Expedition Delayed—Condition of the Rebel Steamer Merrimac—Good Effects of the Somerset Victory—News from Savannah.

FORTRESS MONROE, 7th

The steamer Eastern State arrived here this morning, having left Hatteras yesterday. She brings news from Gen Burnside's fleet

The gunboats started Wednesday morning at sunrise, and the troops and ships followed — Their destination was Roanoke Island The weather was fine when the Eastern State left, and the news of the arrival of the fleet was expected Three or four regiments were left at the Inlet

The only copy of the Norfolk Day Book received contains an editorial censuring the newspapers for giving publicity to the statement that the Merrimac is a failure It appears that the calculation in regard to the displacement was erroneous An error was discovered amounting to more than 200 tons when the ship was floated, and causes the present delay The chief subject of regret, however, is that when she was shoved up again she caught upon a block and received considerable strain, consequently some parts of her machinery have been taken up, and a quantity of dead wood will have to be introduced to correct the tendency to log It is in vain to deny that it is a serious injury to the ship, but we are happy to state that a careful survey shows that it is by no means irreparable.

NEW YORK, 8

Letters from Tennessee state that a great reaction has taken place there since the victory at Somerset Even in the western part of the State Union men can now express their sentiments freely without molestation

A week since the Staff of Gen McClellan were notified to be in readiness for a movement across the Potomac They made every preparation for doing so, and Major E M Green, of their number went to New York for the purpose of purchasing certain personal supplies for their use In consequence of the state of the roads, they have not yet been ordered over, but they are all ready

Gen McClellan will turn over to the temporary charge of Mr Stanton the control of the whole army with the exception of the army of the Potomac It will be remembered that when Gen Scott went to Mexico he pursued a similar course, thus having himself free to attend to the more important matter in hand Gen McClellan and Secretary Stanton, it is needless to say, are on the best of terms

It is asserted that Gen Fremont will be assigned a command shortly

NEW YORK, 8th.

From the frigate Savannah we learn that the expedition on Savannah river has been greatly magnified It consisted only a few gunboats and a brigade of 2,000 men, which sailed from Port Royal to reconnoitre and give the men exercise

Commodore Dupont has and will in the future prohibit all communication between Port Royal and the North, as the correspondents of the press have materially aided in foiling his plans, and no steamers or sailing vessels will be allowed to leave until all his plans are perfected.

SENATE

Passed to be Engrossed—An act to abolish Fish Wardens for the county of Penobscot

Passed to be Enacted—An act to amend the charter of the Mattawamkeag Lake Dam Company

HOUSE

Resolves relative to Timby's Iron Revolving Fortification, came back from the Senate amended. The House concurred

Mr Cary opposed the bill He thought it an insult to ask for this Legislature to order the Engineer Department of the Government as to what are the best means of defence He was not ready to endorse every wind-gun, pop-gun, or squirt-gun which certain individuals may bring in here for our certificate

Mr Hayden replied that every one who had examined the model was satisfied of its great utility Mr H had voluntarily introduced the resolves under consideration

Mr Gilman was very sorry to differ from his colleague (Mr Hayden) He had seen this piece of mechanism, and though he was confounded, he was not convinced Mr G related instances where machinery which had commended itself to the best mechanical minds, had proved an entire failure. If Mr Timby had a valuable piece of mechanism, let him go to Congress—to the proper departments—and its value will be fully tested and appreciated

Mr Frye moved to indefinitely postpone, which motion prevailed

Mr Hamblen of Orono, by leave, laid on the table a bill to extend the time for completing the Penobscot railroad Referred

Passed to be Enacted—Act to amend the charter of the Mattawamkeag Lake Dam Company

Friday, February 7.

SENATE.

The confiscation resolutions offered by Mr Pease as a substitute for those of Col Smart, (only the same in substance), were taken up After several attempts to amend—

Mr Pettis moved the indefinite postponement of the resolves, and demanded the yeas and nays, but they were refused, and the motion lost

The resolves were then passed to be engrossed, yeas 21, nays 4, as follows

Yeas—Messrs Benson, Emerson, Farwell, Goodenow Granger, Gross, Hacker, Hubbard, Jordan, Marshall, Noyes, Pease, Percival, Pike, Roberts, Smart, Smith, Sylvester, Tucker, Vaughan, Vinton, Warren, White, Woods—24

Nays—Messrs Harlow, Peters, Sweat, Tucker Jr—4

Read and Assigned—Resolves for manufacture of fire arms for the use of the State, act to amend so much of the R S as relates to interest on money

HOUSE

On motion of Mr Sewall,

Ordered, That the Committee on the Judiciary be directed to inquire whether section 19 and 20 of chap 95 of the Revised Statutes of 1840, were omitted in the statutes of 1857 by mistake, and if so, what further legislation is necessary in relation to terminating tenancies at will

On motion of Mr Sewall,

Ordered, That the Committee on Federal Relations be directed to consider the expediency of instructing the delegation in Congress from this State in relation to repealing the Reciprocity Treaty, so called

Mr Frye presented the following order

Ordered That the Committee on Militia and Military Affairs be authorized to employ a clerk to assist in drafting a bill for the re-organization of the Militia of Maine

Mr Frye stated as reasons—that this Committee was burdened with business; that many of them were on other committees, that it was proposed to repeal all laws relating to the militia and make an entirely new draft, involving a great amount of clerical labor and great care; and for these reasons a clerk was required

The order was passed

Read and Assigned—Bill to abolish the office of Fish Warden in Penobscot county.

WASHINGTON, 8th

Special despatches received at headquarters from Gen Halleck, say that after the reduction of Fort Henry our forces immediately proceeded up the river in the direction of the railroad bridge, 16 miles distant, and on their way they reduced the batteries of the enemy on the other bank of the river

No doubt is entertained here that our troops soon thereafter took possession of the bridge over the Tennessee river

Further information has been received from General Lander, by which it appears that, having been reinforced, he marched on Thursday at the head of between 7000 and 8000 men on the enemy and Romney The rebel forces were equal to his own They declined fighting, and retreated across the river, destroying the wire bridge in their rear, and running off probably to Winchester, as heretofore stated

Gen Lander is in possession of Romney

The U S gunboat Penola just from Cairo at Baltimore, arrived here today She came past the rebel batteries, accompanied by the resolute, without being fired into, she will here take on board her armament and stores She is in command of Lieut Commanding Crosby

WASHINGTON, 9th

The French Court presentation question recently agitated, is raised here as a matter unworthy of serious consideration, certainly possessing no political significance

The motion of Representative Stevens, made on Friday, relative to payment of interest in coin, was to correct the House journal and did not, it is said, affect the bill which had passed The bill as passed made no special provision for payment of interest, but left it to be paid in coin as heretofore To remove all doubt, the Senate will probably provide expressly for such payment

During the week past 51 packages of articles for hospital use were received at the depot of the Sanitary commission in Washington and 8371 articles were delivered to order of the surgeons of the army of the Potomac Two hundred and ninety seven of the sick soldiers were taken care of at the lodges of the commission in Washington Three medical inspectors of the commission during the week were at Cumberland to render assistance to the sick of Lander's column, and hospital supplies for a thousand men were forwarded to them The reports have been received from an inspector of the commission, who was promptly on the ground with supplies for the wounded at the battle of Mill Spring In peaches have left for Port Royal and Ship Island with supplies Ample assorted supplies for the Burnside expedition are ready at a seaport.

SANDY HOOK, 8th

On Thursday night, about one o'clock, Major Tyndale's pickets, stationed on the Maryland side of the Potomac, opposite Harper's Ferry and along the village of Sandy, were alarmed by a gunshot from the foot of Loudon heights, just below the embouchure of the Shenandoah, followed by female shrieks of murder and cries for help Colonel Geary who was at the Major's quarters, immediately ordered a corps of riflemen to concentrate opposite the point whence the cries emanated, and fire continuously on the level of the road at the foot of the mountain, and on both sides of the House where the cries were heard The order was obeyed And when the morning broke it was discovered that the house of the Widow Stripes had been broken into and ransacked for salt, tea and sugar, by a gang of fifteen or twenty men, supposed to belong to Captain Baylor's guerillas, also that the woman had been maltreated, because a signal shot had been fired by her son

About 7 o'clock yesterday morning a flag of truce was displayed in a landing arch in the railroad, it was just above the recent Harper's Ferry bridge, where an angular flight of steps led from the town side of the stone embankment under the railroad track, to the river, the flag was waved by a negro, and a call was made for a boat to come over There was only one person in sight, and he the negro

A boat with this ferryman and a loyal Virginian named George Rohr, whose property had been destroyed because of his Union sentiments, went over. As he boat neared the arch, Rohr remarked to the ferryman that the man with the flag of truce was not a negro but a white man painted Nevertheless it was decided to land and see what was wanted The boat was pushed stern foremost into the arch, Rohr being seated in the stern By the dim light it was discovered that the stairway was filled with men, and before the boat could be started forward, a man pronounced by Rohr to be Captain Baylor, fired a snaphaukin, the ball taking effect in Rohr's right thigh, passing through the leg coming out just above the knee. The wounded man falling that he had been entrapped, fired his musket in to the recess when a second ball struck him in the shoulder and passing downward, came out below the right breast, killing him.

When it became known on this side that Rohr had been shot, our riflemen poured volley after volley into the landing arch and into such holes as the enemy might conceal themselves

The battery on the Maryland heights opened on the houses in the rear and the pickets in Sandy Hook discovered a squadron of cavalry and footmen pushing up the Shenandoah road in the direction of Charlestown A squad of foot soldiers were also discovered on the London side of the Shenandoah. Behind the abutment of the burnt bridge, but beyond the range of our guns, the bold flags which had signalized the entry and murderous from view, but the shots from our riflemen, had long been the messengers of death to the enemy's scouting parties who were thus enabled to approach unseen and fire on our pickets. Col Geary ordered their immediate destruction by fire, and failing to ignite them with shell, Lieut Greenmalt with ten men proceeded to the other side and set fire to them, bringing back several trophies, among which was a splendid Minnie musket, loaded but not capped

The houses fired were the Wagner, Galt and Railroad hotels, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad depot, the Winchester depot, Welch's store, the telegraph office, and the residences of Mrs Wager, Mrs Dorm, Mrs. Ellen Chambers, Geo Chambers, and J Stevens, none of which were occupied

The destruction of these buildings gives our pickets and battaymen a view of the Shenandoah road from Charlestown, and will enable our men to protect the village in daylight from any occupancy by the enemy, as well as give them a warm reception if they should attempt to advance a force by their favorite and concealed route

The once populous town of Harper's Ferry now contains but seven families, all good Unionist, numbering perhaps 40 souls, all told During the shelling, the people, as has long been customary, hung out white flags, and their dwellings were according respected by our cannoneers

In the afternoon none of the rebels were visible except a squad of cavalry streaking across the road at Smallwood behind Bolivar, nor were there more than a dozen citizens seen Squads of the enemy's cavalry were occasionally seen on the road near Charlestown, but their numbers did not indicate any important movement

At five o'clock, three of the enemy's cavalry came down the Charlestown road, and dismounting, entered the ferry A few moments later one made his appearance with a flag of truce on a platform car standing directly over the arch where his associates had committed the murder in the morning Immediately 200 cocked rifles were brought to bear on him, and a 12-pounder was trained to bear upon the same spot Our men were also means to revenge the death of their late comrade, but were prevented by Colonel Geary The bearer of the flag of truce came from Charleston, and requested that the body of a deceased Maryland volunteer might be sent here for interment Today Col Geary responded that the soil of Maryland was no fit resting place for the bodies of traitors, and as the flag of truce had been violated in the morning, that game could not be played on him twice in one day

It was responded that the act of the morning was unauthorized, and would be punished Col Geary replied that the firs shot was fired by the officer in command, and that he had no confidence in an such assurance "I will give you," said he "five minutes to get beyond the reach of my guns" I have no more to say" The bearer of the flag and his his companion were suddenly on the Charleston road, and promptly at the expiration of the five minutes one of the 12-pounders discharged its contents in the line of their retreat

It was subsequently ascertained that the bearers of the flag of truce were Baylor's men and also that it was Baylor who fired the first shot at Rohr, and that the flag man was disguised and painted as a negro to decoy our boat into the trap

Some time ago Rohr was driven from Harper's Ferry where he has a handsome property and was carrying on a flourishing carriage manufactory business On account of his fidelity to the Union, his property was destroyed and confiscated, and he after securing the retreat of his wife to this side, devoted his whole time to the government in pointing out rebels from Union people who sought to cross into Maryland He was highly esteemed and honored by all our officers

A deserter from Leesburg named Daniel Crein, found his way to the river opposite Sandy Hook, and was ferried over yesterday morning A considerable body of foot and mounted rebels were discovered on the road at the east side of Loudon heights, but they retreated without coming into range

Jackson is reported to be still at Winchester On returning there from his last tour he denounced his officers as a set of d——d cowards and his men as half traitors and sent his resignation to Richmond The south riots here requested him to withdraw it and he will probably do so under the promise of a higher position.

Brigadier General Loring at last accounts was at Romney with 5000 rebels

FORTRESS MONROE, 8th

An order was issued yesterday removing the 10th New York regiment to Camp Hamilton as soon as the weather permits, to make room for the artillery companies which recently arrived

A flag of truce today brought over several ladies to go north

The Southern papers have the following

The New Orleans correspondent of the Charleston Courier reports the burning of the steamer Calhoun

Norfolk, 8th—A messenger from Roanoke Island reports four Federal steamers off the island last night A large number of vessels were twelve miles below An attack was expected

General Wise was in better health

A despatch from Clarksville says that Fort Henry has fallen into the hands of the enemy Our force retreated to Fort Donelson The Federal gunboats are at Danville, Tenn The bridge at that place was destroyed by the Yankees. Twenty thousand Federals formed the attacking column

Memphis, Tenn 7th.—Fort Henry was captured by the Federals yesterday, after two hours fighting

New Orleans, 7th—Four hundred and ninety two prisoners left yesterday for North Carolina to be exchanged.

A lady passenger by the flag of truce from Norfolk, reports that General Huger to day informed her that he received a despatch from Roanoke Island to the effect that the federal forces had advanced to Roanoke Island and had been twice repulsed The attack commenced at 7 o'clock Friday morning, and the fight was still going on when the latest news was received.

ROLLA, 8th

The news from the west indicates that the preparations for a decided blow against the enemy are nearly completed The forces for this movement are nearly all concentrated at the point where it is intended to move against the adversary, and in a few days the whole command will probably be on the march westward

Generals Sigel and Ashboth's divisions have reached Lebanon, and Major Wright's battalion of cavalry has moved 13 miles west of that point

General Davis's Brigade was reported to be crossing the Osage river on Wednesday and a portion of it was expected to arrive at Lebanon on Thursday Tes of Maj Wright's scouts report that Price has made a speech to his troops telling them they were surrounded, that they must fight or surrender, and that they all decided to fight Price is said to have been heavily reinforced from Arkansas, and to have collected large supplies of provisions on the road leading from Springfield to Fayetteville.

Capt. Wood had arrived at Waynesville with 27 rebel prisoners, including flag & captains taken between Lebanon and Springfield.

CINCINNATI, 9.

Special despatches to the Commercial and Gazette give additional details of the capture of Fort Henry. At the time of the attack, the rebel infantry were in their camp outside the fort. They shared not everything, leaving thousands of their guns, and all their equipage and stores behind. Gen Tilghman, Col Gantt, Lieut Col Brown, Maj Cook, Capt Taylor, Lieut Col Cooper, Lieut John H Bright (Opposite 5 guns and 35 prisoners.

CINCINNATI, 9th.

Special despatches to the Commercial, dated Fort Henry, give the following intelligence

Directly after the capture of Fort Henry, the gunboats Lexington, Tyler and Conestoga started up the river with instructions to proceed as far as they saw fit.

Yesterday the Carondelet, in charge of Cols Webster, Hegins and McPherson, of General Grant's staff, made a reconnoissance as far as the bridge of the Memphis and Clarksville railroad at Danville They found quarters had been built at the bridge, and occupied by some troops, where there was found a large quantity of army supplies, commissary stores, wagons, etc The inhabitants were deserting dwellings for miles around, fleeing in every direction The bridge at Danville was partially disabled by the first gunboats which went up the river An other of the piers was crippled so as to completely prevent the passage of trains

There were but eight guns captured by Dickey's cavalry and Colonel Logan, instead of fourteen Nearly all the guns are spiked with telegraph wire, which can easily be removed They are brass two pounders, and in fine order All the prisoners taken, about 100, were sent to Cairo yesterday. The amount of property captured will exceed a million of dollars

Reconnoissances have been made by Colonel Logan and others to within a mile of Fort Donelson

General Grant and Staff will make a reconnoissance this afternoon up the river beyond Danville

ST LOUIS, 9th

The correspondent of the Republican says the property captured at Fort Henry is valued at upwards of $200,000

Nine hundred prisoners of war are to be transferred to Alton to day where quarters have been provided in the old penitentiary

Fifteen hundred cavalry and a battery of light artillery left yesterday for Fort Henry A regiment of cavalry also left for Alton

LOUISVILLE, 8th

Forty six of the prisoners captured at the Mill Spring fight were brought here tonight, including Lieut Col Carter of the 10th Tennessee regiment, and three lieutenants attached to the other rebel regiments

CINCINNATI, 9th

A special Indianapolis despatch to the Commercial says General Thomas's division is reported to have made a forward movement, and will invade East Tennessee at three different points simultaneously General Carter goes through Cumberland Gap, Schoepff by the central route, and General Thomas, with Manson's and McCook's brigades, will cross at Mill Spring They will advance immediately on Knoxville where they will take possession of the railroads, cutting off supplies and communication with the rebel government

MILWAUKIE WIS 5th

The Chambers of Commerce today adopted a resolution approving the legal tender clause in the treasury note bill,

THE SUMTER. Speaking of the recent depredations of the Sumter, the Boston Post says

Our advices from Gibraltar are to Jan 18, when the Sumter was cruising about nine miles east of that port She had burned the barque Neap bush from Messina, Dec 28, for Boston, had bonded the bark Intelligator, of Searsport, Me, from Gaetanbo, for Newport, England, but released her, (perhaps on account of her cargo belonging to foreign parties) and had at the time two barks in tow The Neapolitan was a fine vessel of 342 tons, six years old, worth from $11 000 to $12,000, built and owned at Kingston Mass by J E Holmes, who had no insurance upon her Her cargo of oranges, lemons, filberts, &c, valued at from $10,000 to $12,000, and owned by Messrs Baker & Morrill, of Boston we do learn and was insured for $9000 with the war risks attached, at the Equitable and Boston offices She had also on board $2000 in specie, which was insured at the Manufacturers' office also including the war risk Perhaps we may expect more news of the same sort, until one or two U S gunboats arrive in the Straits The U S steamer Kearsage sailed from Portsmouth yesterday for Fayal, Western Islands. It is understood she then proceeds in pursuit of the Sumter, and it is positively stated that several other war vessels have already gone in that direction

John Adams, once President of the United States, being called upon for a contribution for Foreign Missions, said:

I have nothing to give for that purpose; but there are in this vicinity six ministers, not one of whom will preach in the other's pulpit—now I will give as much as any one else and more to civilize these clergymen.

USE OF A NEWSPAPER. A respectable farmer and church-goer of East Haven, N H, at the commencement of the year stated his paper to be discontinued, as a measure of economy. An unnatural calamitous he soon lost his cushion, and last Sunday morning commenced a vigorous attack upon his wood pile, fully believing it was Saturday. He did not discover his mistake until he saw his neighbors passing and repassing, when he became so much interested in the involuntary desecration of the Sabbath, that he immediately expressed his determination to renew his subscription without delay.—Ex.

A correspondent from Eastern Virginia writes as follows of that section of the country

But little hay is raised, and the cattle are fed on cornstalks—a little tobacco and garden vegetables forming the staple I give you a scene between a Massachusetts boy and a secesher:—Enter latter with a yoke of steers

"What's them?" says the boy

"Them's steers," says secesher

How much do you ask for 'em?" says Yankee

"Can't sell them, but there's a right smart lot round here to sell What do you want of steers?" says the man

"O, I'd like to split a cracker and put 'em between the halves and then take a bite to see if I could find em"

"Wet up—whoa—go long"—and secesh drives off in high dudgeon

GENTLEMEN

Having enriched for years the fortunes of Tailors doing a credit business and having now proved that system to be entirely wrong for the Retail Tailoring business feel compelled to adopt the CASH SYSTEM It is better for the customer who expects to pay for his garments as the amount lost by bad debts under the credit system is divided between the patrons and the patronized, as the former receive it by paying as much as 20 per cent. less for their garments, and the latter is saved from bankruptcy Consequently I would invite all Cash paying customers to examine the Stock of Goods now on hand and see if the prices are not 20 per cent less than any other Clothing House in the city The Cutting Department is under the charge of

MADE ON

PLUMER'S PATENT ANATOMICAL LASTS!

(From J. V. C. Smith, M. D., formerly Mayor of Boston.)

PLUMER'S PATENT BOOTS.

The Undersigned has worn a pair of those improved boots, and feels grateful to the inventor for the comfort derived from them. The nice adjustment of the sole to every part of the under surface of the foot is an important circumstance which seems to have been entirely overlooked till Mr. Plumer planned his Last and Boot upon truer mechanical principles.

Those who have once had an opportunity to test the real advantages of these Philosophically made Boots, will hardly be reconciled to wear any other.

J. V. C. SMITH

Boston, July 18, 1861.

J. C. PLUMER, M. D.

Dear Sir: I am greatly delighted with your newly invented boots which I have worn during the last winter, and only wonder that the world should have been so stupid as not to have made the discovery half a century ago. Any one with a grain of common sense and a moderate reflection cannot fail to see that your Patent Boots are perfectly adapted to the foot, that wonderful piece of Nature's Mechanism, giving to every portion of the foot and equal support, and I am sure that those who once make trial of your new invention will never go back to the old fashioned boots or shoes which are so prolific of corns, bunions and a thousand other true sets. Your Patent Boots seem to be part and parcel of our Physical structure, supporting the body quite as much as the feet, and promoting by an equipoise to an extent degree, especially in walking over rough surfaces.

I wish I knew by some means by which I could make known to every man, woman and child in the Union, the great importance of your invention.

Very truly yours,
W. H. CHRISTMAN, M. D.
45 Summer Street.

BOSTON, July 2, 1861

J. C. PLUMER—

Dear Sir: Having worn the pair of Boots upon which your "Anatomical Last" was used, I was thoroughly impressed as to its efficiency in relieving the finality which all have experienced who have to walk considerably, or whose pain is the least after much walking. After having worn the boots made upon the "Anatomical Last," I found my anticipations more than realized. I can walk nearly as easily without experiencing the above named difficulty in the least degree. I also escaped the bruising pressure of wearing in my boots, for they were as easy at first as after they had been worn.

Truly Yours,
C. H. BUREANK, M. D.

DR. SWEET'S

Infallible Liniment!

Great External Remedy

For Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Stiff Neck and Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Wounds, Piles, Headache, and all Rheumatic and Nervous Disorders.

FOR all which complaints a speedy and certain remedy is and never can be found. This Liniment is prepared from the prescription of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the family physician and adviser, and has been used in his practice for the last twenty years with the most astonishing success.

AS AN ALLEVIATOR OF PAIN it is unrivalled by any preparation before the public, of which the most skeptical may be convinced by a single trial.

This Liniment will cure rapidly and radically RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS of every kind and degree, thousands of cases where it has been used it has never been known to fail.

For NEURALGIA, it will afford immediate relief in every case, however aggravating.

It will relieve the worst cases of HEADACHE in three minutes, and is warranted to do it.

TOOTHACHE also will cure instantly.

For NERVOUS DEBILITY and GENERAL LASSITUDE arising from imprudence or excess, this Liniment is a most happy and unfailing remedy. Acting directly upon the nervous system, it strengthens and revivifies the system, and restores its elasticity and vigor.

FOR PILES—As an external remedy, we claim that it is the best ever sent, and we challenge the world to produce an equal. Every victim of this distressing complaint will give it a trial, for it will not fail to afford immediate relief, and in a majority of cases will effect a radical cure.

QUINSY AND SORE THROAT are sometimes extremely malignant and dangerous, but a timely application of this Liniment will never fail to cure.

SPRAINS are sometimes very obstinate, and enlargement of the joints is liable to occur if neglected, the worst case may be conquered by this Liniment in two or three days.

BRUISES, CUTS, WOUNDS, SORES, ULCERS, BURNS AND SCALDS, yield readily to the wonderful healing properties of DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, when used according to directions. Also, CHILBLAINS, FROSTED FEET, and INSECT BITES AND STINGS.

Every Horse Owner

should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lameness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

Over four hundred voluntary testimonials to the wonderful curative powers of this Liniment have been received within the last two years, and many of them from persons in the highest ranks of life.

CAUTION.

To avoid imposition, observe the signature and likeness of Dr. Stephen Sweet on every bottle, and also "Stephen Sweet's Infallible Liniment" blown in the glass of each bottle, without which none are genuine.

YOU CAN'T FIND

An Article that Suits as Well as

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Apothecaries and consumers all testify that

It is the Only Reliable Article

FOR THE BALD AND GRAY.

Read the testimony from Kentucky.

PADUCAH, KY., July 27, 1860.

MR. W. A. BELL:

Dear Sir:—I have used HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and am satisfied, from an experience in all other preparations for the same purpose, that it is the only one ever before the public worth purchasing.

Yours truly, JOHN G. DALY.

PADUCAH, KY., July 27, 1860.

MESSRS. W. E. HAYES & CO., Troy, N. Y.:

Gents:—I have pleasure in enclosing statement of Mr. John G. Daly, a merchant of this place, in regard to HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. This testimony is strong, after many years of the preparations now before the public, claiming to be Hair Restoratives, which, we have reason to believe, are not on the merits of the Inimitable, and out of the large size. Forward by Daily and send the quantity we had ordered.

Yours, truly, W. A. BELL.

IT WILL RESTORE THE NATURAL COLOR OF THE HAIR,

where age or sickness has turned it grey, and it will render it soft and glossy.

ANYBODY

who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but is an immediate stimulant to the natural secretions of the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much ease; is a delicate, cool and stimulating liquid, and is an article which has no equal.

Read this Letter.

MESSRS. W. E. HAYES & CO.:

I hereby certify that my Hair having become gray and very harsh, I purchased from Mr. Reed, druggist, one bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and found it to be all that was recommended. Hair was restored to its original color, and has remained so, and dandruff arrested; in fact, the whole appearance of the hair was very different from any Hair Preparation I ever used before. I know of many others who have used the article, and all speak in the highest terms of it. I have no hesitation in recommending it to my friends as the best and cheapest Hair Preparation in our market. I am truly yours, &c.
